ANNUAL REPORT — JANUARY-DECEMBER 1977

State of North Carolina

FOREWORD

In recent years our citizenry has experienced an increased social awareness. The problems surrounding the public welfare have become the focal point of the news media and of our conversations with others. Crime, and the violence so often connected with it, is at the forefront of a multitude of social ills. To enable the concerned citizens and criminal justice officials to understand the nature and extent of the crime problem in this State in order for corrective action to be taken, truly reflective criminal statistics are necessary.

Since 1973, a statewide Uniform Crime Reporting Program has been operational in North Carolina. This program is administered by the Police Information Network, a division of the North Carolina Department of Justice, which has a functioning computer system and excellent rapport with the State's local law enforcement agencies.

With the program now five years old, we have maintained a high degree of cooperation from local law enforcement officials. I am extremely pleased with the voluntary efforts made to sustain a sound Uniform Crime Reporting System. As a result, this annual report has been compiled and is, in my opinion, a positive step by the North Carolina law enforcement community toward a higher degree of professionalism. An increased awareness of the crime problem in this State should additionally serve to advance the total involvement of the entire community in solving the problems before us. To the degree that this report serves to enlighten everyone of the nature and extent of crime in this State, it will have achieved its objectives.

Of the seven index crimes, four reflected decreases over 1976. Violent crimes as a group increased over three percent. Property crimes as a group decreased over one percent. Combined, the total volume of crime in North Carolina decreased nearly one percent. These statistics reflect the efforts that have been made by criminal justice officials and citizens alike to curtail crime in this State. Utilizing the information contained in this publication and working together we may be able to finally come to grips with crime as a social problem.

Law Enforcement Code of Ethics

As a Law Enforcement Officer, my fundamental duty is to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the Constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality and justice.

I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn, or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature or that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept secret unless revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudices, animosities or friendships to influence my decisions. With no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals, I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice or ill will, never employing unnecessary force or violence and never accepting gratuities.

I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it as a public trust to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of the police service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession . . . law enforcement.

HOWARD M. LIVINGSTON
Director
Police Information Network

Since 1973 law enforcement agencies throughout North Carolina have voluntarily submitted information on crimes committed in their areas of responsibility to the Police Information Network (PIN). The information and statistics presented in this report are an assessment of the statewide crime problem and was compiled from the monthly Uniform Crime Reports (UCR) submitted to PIN by North Carolina law enforcement agencies for the year 1977. In turn, PIN has furnished this data to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for tabulation of the national crime figures and inclusion in their annual publication, Crime in the United States.

The staff of the Police Information Network has verified the data in this publication for accuracy and completeness to the best of their ability. It is anticipated that this report will assist law enforcement officers in adjusting, if necessary, their efforts in the fight against crime. This report should also provide some valuable information for other interested agencies, both public and private, which have similar goals. I sincerely hope that this publication will prove useful in attempting to curtail the serious problem of crime in our State.

I would like to personally extend my thanks to all of those law enforcement officials without whose concerted and consistent participation in UCR would not have made this publication possible.

NORTH CAROLINA UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING PROGRAM

THE NORTH CAROLINA UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING PROGRAM

INTRODUCTION

In the last several years the FBI has actively encouraged individual states to develop statewide programs of law enforcement statistics compatible with the national UCR program. These statistical programs have been given impetus by the development of statewide computerized criminal justice information systems, (PIN), of which Uniform Crime Reporting is an integral part.

North Carolina was one of the first states to develop its own statewide program of law enforcement statistics, the North Carolina Uniform Crime Reporting Program.

In January 1973, the Police Information Network, a division of the North Carolina Department of Justice, initially began the collection of monthly Uniform Crime reports from county and municipal law enforcement agencies.

This document is the fifth annual report, presenting statistical information collected and compiled through the year 1977.

FIELD REPRESENTATION

For Uniform Crime Reporting purposes the Police Information Network divides the State into eight (8) districts. Eight PIN Field Representatives are assigned to assist local agencies in many areas including record practices and crime reporting procedures. The difficult and important task of maintaining close liaison is obvious when it is realized that services now are extended by PIN, through its Field Representatives, to 430 law enforcement agencies of the State. Education of contributors to the program must be a constant operational requirement, if continued system adherence and valid statistics are to be expected.

As an adjunct to the program the Police Information Network offers internal records keeping system assistance to those agencies who request it. Assistance is rendered by the Field Representative who provides the necessary guidance and instruction. The personal contact of the Field Representative and the contributor not only serves as a rapid means to resolve areas of report error, but also provides the Field Representative the opportunity to work in other areas with which the Police Information Network is concerned.

CONTRIBUTING AGENCIES AND POPULATION

There are currently an average of 381 law enforcement agencies throughout the State contributing monthly directly to the North Carolina Uniform Crime Reporting Program. Each month approximately 95 out of 100 county Sheriff's Departments and 279 out of 330 Police Departments participate.

In addition, State law enforcement agencies (North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation (SBI), North Carolina State Highway Patrol (SHP), North Carolina State Government Security Force (SGSF), Wildlife Protection Division and several Campus Police Departments submit data to the program. Uniform Crime reports received from these agencies represent statistical data covering approximately 96.71 percent of the estimated North Carolina population.

JANUARY 1, 1977 - December 31, 1977

	Total	Police	Sheriff	SHP	SGSF	SBI	Wildlife	Campus PD's	Pop. Cov.
January	387	284	97	1	1	1	1	2	97.43%
February	388	285	96	1	1	1	1	3	97.16%
March	382	280	96	1	1	1	1	2	97.10%
April	386	283	96	1	1	1	1	3	97.13%
May	384	281	96	1	1	1	1	3	97.07%
June	382	280	95	1	1	1	1	3	96.67%
July	381	279	95	1	1	1	1	3	96.54%
August	380	279	95	1	1	1	1	2	96.54%
September	378	276	95	1	1	1	1	3	96.44%
October	377	276	94	1	1	1	1	3	96.03%
November	374	273	94	1	1	1	1	3	96.00%
December	371	270	95	1	1	1	1	2	96.38%
Average	381	279	95	1	1	1	1	3	96.71%

The above table sets forth the number of agencies by type that have participated in the North Carolina Uniform Crime Reporting Program through December 1977. The State Highway Patrol, Wildlife and State Bureau of Investigation are each counted as one agency even though: A) a monthly report is received from the State Highway Patrol and Wildlife reflecting activity in each county and B) a monthly report is received from each Special Agent of the State Bureau of Investigation.

REPORTING PROCEDURE

In the statewide Uniform Crime Reporting Program contributing law enforcement agencies are wholly responsible for compiling their own crime reports and submitting them to the Police Information Network. The Police Information Network in an effort to maintain quality and uniformity in the data received furnishes full-time field representatives who provide training in Uniform Crime Reporting procedures. All contributors also are furnished with the Uniform Crime Reporting Handbook which outlines in detail procedures for scoring and classifying offenses. The Handbook illustrates and discusses the monthly and annual reporting forms as well as the numerous tally sheets made available to facilitate the periodic tabulation of desired data.

A centralized record system is necessary to the sound operation of any law enforcement agency. The record system is an essential basis for crime reporting by the agency. Upon request the Police Information Network makes internal records forms and technical assistance available at no cost to any law enforcement agency. This provides for the establishment or modification of a basic non-automated police records system.

On a monthly basis, law enforcement agencies (police, sheriffs, Highway Patrol, and State Bureau of Investigation) report the number of offenses that became known to them during the month in the following crime categories: murder and non-negligent manslaughter, manslaughter by negligence, forcible rape, robbery, assault, burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft. This count is taken from a record of all complaints of crime received by the law enforcement agency from victims, other sources, and/or discovered by officers. Whenever complaints of crime are determined through investigation to be unfounded or false, they are eliminated from the actual count. The number of "actual offenses known" in these crime categories is reported to PIN without regard to 1) whether anyone is arrested for the crime; 2) stolen property recovered; 3) the local prosecutive policy; or 4) any other restrictive consideration. Law enforcement agencies on a monthly basis report the total number of these reported crimes which they clear either by arrest or exceptional means. A separate count of crimes cleared which involve only persons under the age of 18 is shown. The number of law enforcement officers killed and assaulted and the value of property stolen and recovered during the month are reported. Arrests are reported for all criminal acts, except traffic violations, by crime category including the age, sex, and race of each person arrested. Supplementary information concerning pertinent data surrounding homicides and rapes is reported.

On an annual basis a report is submitted by each contributor concerning the number of persons formally charged by crime classification and the disposition of such charges. Law enforcement employee data specifically encompasses the number of sworn and other personnel and is collected annually.

VERIFICATION PROCEDURES

An obvious concern in the collection of crime statistics is the validity and uniformity of the data received. With the receipt of monthly reports covering approximately 350 jurisdictions, prepared on a voluntary basis, the problems of attaining uniformity are readily apparent. Issuance of instructions does not complete the role of the Police Information Network. On the contrary, it is standard operating procedure to examine each incoming report not only for arithmetical accuracy but also, and possibly of even more importance, for reasonableness as a possible indication of errors.

Numerous checks and cross checks are used to insure the accuracy of the reports. Errors of a minor nature are corrected by the UCR report verifiers without contacting the contributor. Necessary arithmetical adjustments or unusual variations are noted by the UCR verifiers and brought to the attention of the submitting agency by direct contact through a PIN field representative. Upon resubmission to PIN of a corrected return from a field representative, the forms are re-verified. Upon completion of all individual form verification processes summary statistics in various forms are derived.

A great deal of the success of North Carolina's UCR Program to this point has largely been due to the full time field staff assigned to assist local agencies in record practices and crime reporting procedures. Personal contact is invaluable to the accuracy and uniformity of UCR data received.

STATISTICAL FEEDBACK

Statistical feedback is now available to contributors of North Carolina's UCR Program. UCR data can now be analyzed and returned to a contributor on a statewide level with the annual report. Dependent upon the timely submission of this UCR data, quarterly and semi-annual statistical reports can be provided the contributor which detail information showing crime trends within their jurisdiction (i.e., crime index totals including clearance rates, arrest totals, property stolen and recovered, etc.). In addition, a trend release based on crime in the five major cities in North Carolina (Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, and Durham) is published quarterly and provided all contributors.

LIMITATIONS OF A UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING PROGRAM

Information currently collected by the North Carolina Program is generally the same as that gathered by the national system, and the methods of classifying and scoring offenses and arrests are the same. This readily enables comparisons with other states and the Nation, but the information gaps present in the national program are also inherent in North Carolina's system.

Development of the current nationwide Uniform Crime Reporting Program began more than forty years ago. In 1930, crime counts were first requested from local police departments, with the Federal Bureau of Investigation designated by Congress to collect, compile, and analyze these statistics. The Committee on Uniform Crime Records of the International Association of Chiefs of Police played a primary role in the origin and development of the UCR Program and, to this day, serves in a strong advisory capacity. Standardized offense classifications and scoring procedures to insure uniformity and consistency of data are the keynote of the reports. All of the Uniform Crime Reports have been designed so that they are a by-product of information that a law enforcement agency should routinely compile for its own efficient administration and performance. The underlying philosophy and focus is and always has been oriented toward police statistics for use by law enforcement agencies, but the unique nature of the program makes the data invaluable for use by elected officials and the American public.

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program has been subject to much criticism during its history and, while many of these commentaries have been valid, at least some of the shortcomings are understandable when it is remembered tha the program has been developed to furnish management information for use primarily by law enforcement agencies. The Uniform Crime Reports are not a court or corrections statistical program. They are not designed to furnish an overview of the workings of our entire criminal justice system, nor are they able to give the complete picture of law enforcement activity. The main goal of the UCR Program is to furnish police administrators with a measure of their activities and operational problems as indicated by the number of reported offenses, arrests, clearances, and the like.

Therefore, much of the criticism of the UCR Program itself is weakened when its stated primary purpose is kept in mind. Uniform Crime Reports data are the best crime information currently available since they reflect the key events (criminal offenses) that set in motion the various phases of our criminal justice process. The number of arrests, prosecutions, or convictions, while capable of more precise measurement, nevertheless is less indicative of the amount and nature of crime because such data is further removed from the original event. But, because the Uniform Crime Reporting Program is the only recurring crime and arrest reporting program operating on a national level, of necessity it serves as the base for assessing the many significant information gaps at the input end of the criminal justice system.

A first step in the control of crime is to ascertain the true dimensions of the problem. However, present statistics as gathered by the UCR Program measure neither the real incidence of crime nor the full amount of economic loss to victims. Information regarding number of offenses and clearances is collected only for the seven Part I crimes. Value and type of property stolen and recovered data is requested only for property stolen in Part I offenses. For the Part II offenses (except non-aggravated assault), the only information submitted is the number of arrests for these crimes according to the age, sex, and race of the subject. Consequently, there is no record of the actual number of these offenses occurring, nor is there a calculation made for property loss, as in cases of arson, vandalism, and embezzlement.

Moreover, in recent years the Uniform Crime Reporting system has taken no account of the price inflation so prevalent in our economy. During 1972, one of the seven Index offenses was larceny $50 and over in value and, between the two years 1960 and 1970, the number of these major thefts nationwide displayed a greater percentage increase than did any other Index crime. Furthermore, the numerical increase in these thefts between 1960 and 1970 amounted to 35 percent of the total increase in the level of Index crimes between the two years. But, at least a portion of these additional thefts may be accounted for by the fact that, during a period of rising prices, there are simply more articles above $50 in value in the possession of our population and subject to the risk of theft. This particular limitation of the Crime Index no longer exists, as in 1973 larceny $50 and over was replaced with total larceny as an Index offense.

The Crime Index does not explicitly take into account the varying degrees of seriousness of its seven components. Each crime receives the same weight as it is added to the Index. Consequently, an auto theft is counted the same as a murder, and an aggravated assault is weighted equally with an attempted burglary. Any review of crime must consider the volume, rate, and trend of each offense that comprises the Index and the relationship between these seven crimes.

The North Carolina and national Uniform Crime Reporting Programs are designed to measure offenses committed and persons arrested, and difficulty can arise if this distinction is not kept firmly in mind. Crimes relate to events, but arrests relate to persons. Unlike traffic violations where there is usually one event, with one violation and one offender, a single criminal act can involve several crimes, several offenders, and several victims. Relating specific crimes to the criminal, or specific offenses to characteristics of those arrested, is generally beyond the scope of the present Uniform Crime Reporting system.

Clearance rates reflect the proportion of criminal acts that are solved. However, the arrest, charging, and turning over to a court for prosecution, of only one of several offenders involved in a given crime is sufficient for a clearance to be scored. Therefore, clearance rates cannot be viewed as indicating the true degree of criminal apprehension.

Juvenile crime and arrest statistics are also open to question. Many juvenile offenders are handled informally and, as a consequence, inaccurate or incomplete recording of the event or action may result. Procedures for handling juveniles vary between departments much more so than in the case of adult offenders. Furthermore, the degree of juvenile involvement in solved offenses is probably seriously misunderstood because juvenile participation in clearances is recorded only when juveniles are exclusively involved. When both adults and juveniles are subjects in a clearance, the juvenile participation is not reported.

Superficial conclusions are sometimes drawn from the UCR crime and arrest data, in particular when attempting to make comparisons between jurisdictions, because all factors that have an impact on crime problems are not measured or explicitly considered by this program. Municipal ordinances, local criminal justice administrative policies, efficiency and thoroughness of record keeping, and Uniform Crime Reporting proficiency and practices all affect the amount of crime and arrests reported. Furthermore, socio-economic conditions and the characteristics and attitudes of the local population influence the magnitude and nature of criminal behavior in a community.

The preceding comments should not be viewed as an indictment of the Uniform Crime Reporting Program which, admittedly, is designed for the operational requirements of law enforcement agencies. While current methods of gathering and reporting crime and arrest data provide a less than complete picture of criminality in our society, there is at present no other information system in general use that will more adequately perform this task. Many of the same criticisms may be equally applied to existing court and penal statistical information systems. For, in actuality, consistent data is not available with which to accurately assess the operation and problems of our criminal justice system. Deficiencies in information are apparent: the passage of time cannot be accounted for, and hence the degree of economy and swift justice cannot be measured; the true degree of recidivism, or recurring criminal behavior, cannot be measured. Lacking data concerning dispositions at various levels of the criminal justice system, or the number of subjects passed through succeeding legal statutes, the efficiency of the process cannot be realistically evaluated. However, these information gaps will never be surmounted if we continue to view our "police", "judicial", and "correctional" statistical information systems as independent from each other. What is required is a "criminal justice" information system, with the offender passing through the criminal justice process being the unit about which all data is gathered.

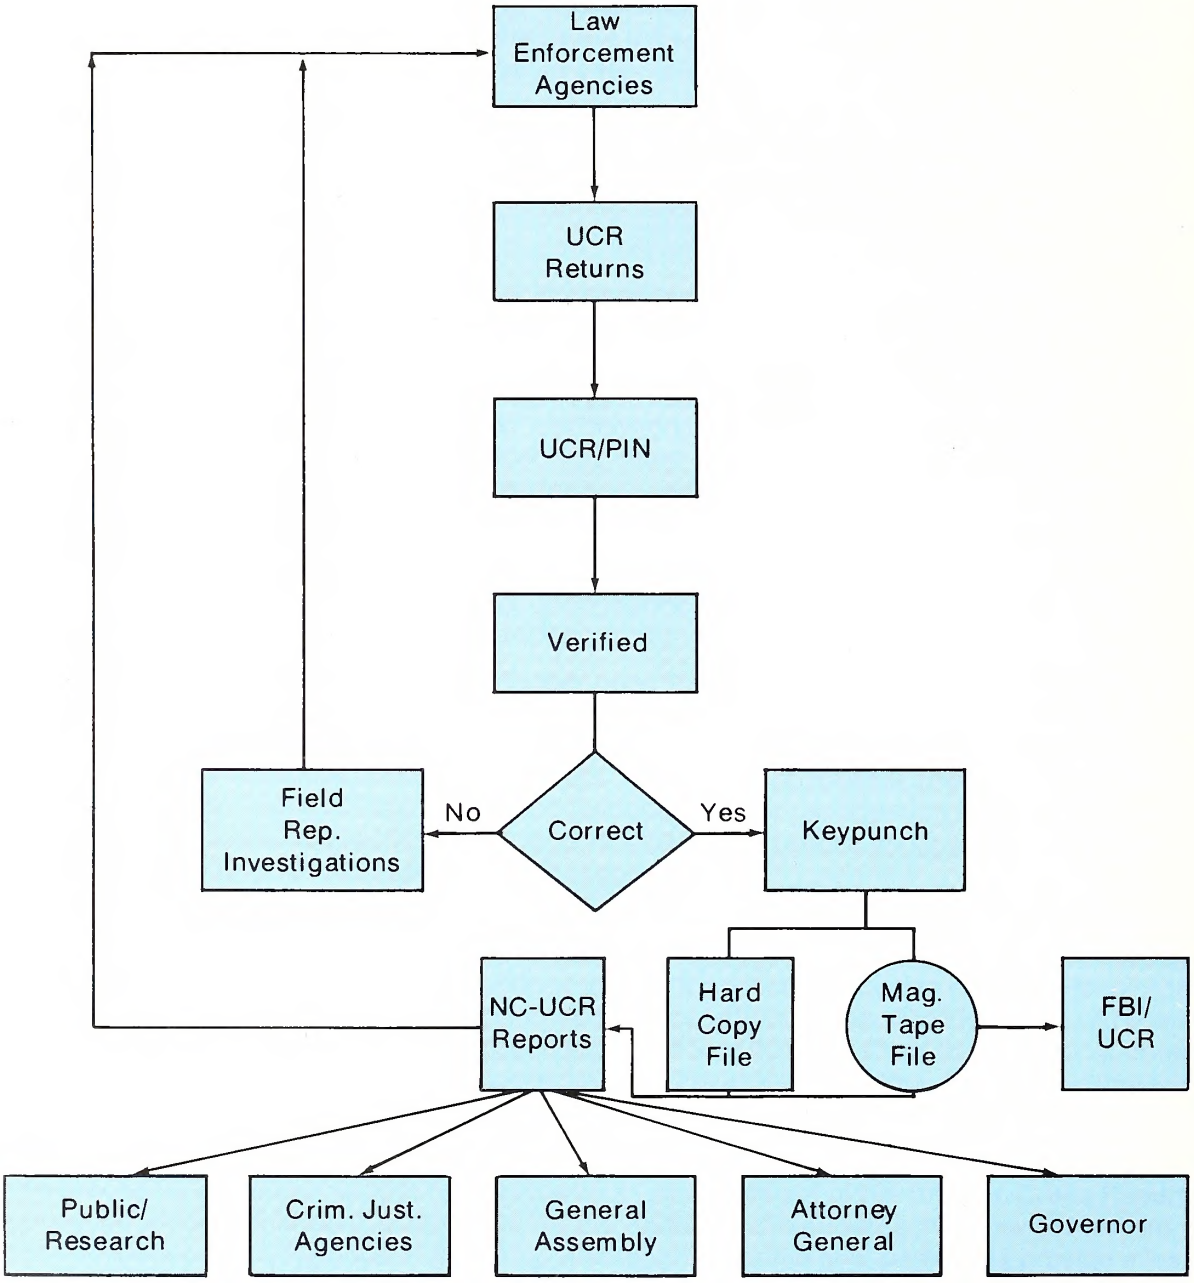
UCR SYSTEM FLOW

The North Carolina Police Information Network is pleased with the progress of the Uniform Crime Reporting Program to this point notwithstanding the fact that there are many challenges yet to be met. The UCR staff is working vigorously toward achieving a program of excellence in terms of the quality of data submitted, the jurisdiction coverage represented, and the value of meaningful statistical feedback and interpretation. To this end the UCR program is committed.



II
NORTH CAROLINA CRIME INDEX OFFENSES

CRIME FACTORS

There are inherent limitations in current crime reporting practices. Of primary importance is the question of how much crime is being reported. Law enforcement agencies are only capable of reporting crimes known to them. In many instances, citizens do not report crimes directly to these agencies but may report them to the prosecuting authorities. A considerable volume of crime is not reported to law enforcement agencies because the victims may consider the offenses against them to be of very little consequence; they believe there is nothing the police can do about them; they fear retaliation from offenders or have shared willingly in such offenses as illegal sex acts, gambling or drug usage. Consequently, information concerning some offenses is never entered in the present statistical reporting system. A national survey conducted for the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice indicates that half the victimizations are not reported to law enforcement authorities.

The information collected for this report is the most accurate crime information currently available in North Carolina. Caution should be exercised, however, in making direct comparisons of crime and arrest data reported by different law enforcement jurisdictions. Likewise, when comparing offense and arrest data, the reader should keep in mind that crimes relate to events while arrests relate to persons. A single criminal act may involve several crimes, several offenders, and several victims.

Set forth below are some additional conditions which will, by type and volume, affect the crime that occurs from place to place. These same conditions will also affect the amount of crime actually reported.

1. Density and size of the community population and metropolitan areas of which it is a part.
2. Composition of the population with reference particularly to age, sex, and race.
3. Economic status and mores of the population.
4. Relative stability of population including commuters, seasonal, and other transient types.
5. Climate, including seasonal weather conditions.
6. Educational, recreational, and religious characteristics.
7. EFFECTIVE STRENGTH OF THE POLICE FORCE.
8. STANDARDS GOVERNING APPOINTMENT TO THE POLICE FORCE.
9. POLICIES OF THE PROSECUTING OFFICIALS AND THE COURTS.
10. ATTITUDE OF THE PUBLIC TOWARDS LAW AND ENFORCEMENT PROBLEMS.
11. THE ADMINISTRATIVE AND INVESTIGATIVE EFFICIENCY OF THE LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY INCLUDING THE DEGREE OF ADHERENCE TO CRIME STANDARDS.

Current methods of gathering and reporting offense and arrest data, because they are influenced by many variables, provide a less than complete picture of criminality in our society. However, despite these shortcomings, there is at present no other information system available that will more adequately perform this task.

THE INDEX OF CRIME

The crime index offense table can be used to indicate the probable extent, fluctuation, and distribution of crime for the State of North Carolina as a whole, geographic divisions, individual counties, individual cities and towns, and standard metropolitan statistical areas. The measure used is a Crime Index consisting of seven important offenses which are counted as they become known to the law enforcement agencies. Crime classifications used in the Index are: Murder and non-negligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary—breaking and entering, larceny and motor vehicle theft.

The total number of criminal acts that occur is unknown, but those that are reported to Law Enforcement provide the first means of a count. Not all crimes come readily to the attention of Law Enforcement; not all crimes are of sufficient importance to be significant in an index; and not all important crimes occur with enough regularity to be meaningful in an index. With these considerations in mind, the crimes below were selected as a group to furnish an abbreviated and convenient measure of the crime problem.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING INDEX OFFENSE DEFINITIONS

1. Murder — The willful killing of another.
2. Rape — The carnal knowledge of a female through the use of force or the threat of force.
3. Robbery — Occurs in the presence of the victim to obtain property or a thing of value from a person by use of force or threat of force.

MURDER

MURDER

Murder is defined as the willful (nonnegligent) killing of a human being. Any death due to a fight, argument, assault or commission of a crime is included. Traffic deaths, caused by the negligence of someone rather than the victim, are not included here, but are counted under manslaughter. The classification in this offense, as in all other Crime Index Offenses, is based solely on police investigation as opposed to the determination of a court, medical examiner, coroner, jury, or other judicial body. Attempts to kill and assaults to kill are scored as assaults and not as murder. Suicides, accidental deaths, and justifiable or excusable homicides are also excluded.

1977 — Summary Analysis

- A total of 584 murders were reported by law enforcement agencies in North Carolina in 1977. Of these 584 offenses, twelve were justifiable or unfounded leaving 572 actual offenses of murder.
- Murders accounted for 2.59 percent of all violent crimes and .28 percent of all index offenses reported.
- The murder rate for 1977 was 10.53 per 100,000 population.

- 42.6 percent of all persons arrested for murder were white, 52.4 percent were Negro and 5.0 percent were of other races.
- 44.3 percent of murder victims were white, 51.4 percent were Negro and 4.3 percent of other or unknown races were murdered. 75.5 percent of all murder victims were male.
- Firearms were used in 71.6 percent of all reported murders. The use of a knife or cutting device was involved in 14.2 percent of the murders.

RAPE AND THE LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

As a law enforcement officer investigating the crime of rape, remember that the most important aspect of handling a rape victim is EXPLANATION. The victim of a rape is a walking crime scene. In order to attempt an apprehension of the offender as well as an eventual conviction, the full cooperation of the victim is necessary. If the victim is willing and able to cooperate, your job as a law enforcement officer will be easier. To obtain this cooperation, proper explanation is the one means of opening channels of communication. The victim of a rape has several basic needs. These needs are:

1. to have support
2. to understand what has happened
3. to ventilate
4. to understand what will happen next, (the interrogation, medical examination, court process etc.)

To help the victim fulfil these needs a law enforcement officer should have several goals. These goals are:

1. Show support by helping restore the victim's own self control, by explaining your role and by preparing her for upcoming events.
2. Reduce anxiety. (This can be done by offering a glass of water, food or cigarettes)
3. Help restore self control. (Explain the sequence of events)
4. Win trust. (Be a companion throughout the process of events)

As a law enforcement officer you should always:

1. show your own confident authority
2. show sympathy
3. show support for the victim
4. let her ventilate—but do not force her
5. prepare and predict—explain the sequence of events
6. do not judge the victim
7. let the victim make her own decision—lay out all the options
8. make sure she has transportation
9. follow up after the investigation so she is aware of the medical and legal steps to be taken

Explanation is the key to the proper investigation of a rape. Simple explanation creates an environment of trust and guidance, thus making the decision making process of the victim easier to deal with. Always establish rapport. This lays the foundation for mutual cooperation. The primary function of an officer is apprehension and conviction. To achieve this end result, proper interview techniques should be utilized as well as the proper collection of needed evidence and the establishment of a good chain of possession of all collected evidence. Remember, without the victim's willingness and ability to cooperate and the collection of the proper evidence, apprehension and conviction are just illusions.

RAPE EVIDENCE COLLECTION KIT

A rape evidence collection kit should be available to medical personnel when the victim is examined. This kit should include:

a. One plastic speculum
b. Two packs of sterile swabs
c. One test tube with screw on top with swabs
d. Two glass slides
e. Two envelopes for hair combings
f. One plastic comb

Store all clothing in paper bags.

During this period there were 663 actual rapes reported as well as an additional 256 attempted rapes. The following statistics have been compiled on 656 of the actual and 252 of the attempted rapes in an effort to provide criminal justice agencies with more insight into the offense of rape.

CRIME INDEX OFFENSES

Serious crime (index crimes) in North Carolina totaled 205,005 for 1977. This represents a decrease of .83 percent in reported crimes over 1976. This decrease was brought about by a reduction in the number of property offenses which offset a slight increase in violent crime. Of the seven index offenses, an increase in the reported offenses of rape and motor vehicle theft along with a decrease in robbery were the most notable.

INDEX CRIME REPORTED BY MONTH

The measure used to indicate the probable extent, fluctuation, and distribution of crime for the State as a whole, geographic divisions, individual municipalities, standard metropolitan statistical areas, etc. is a Crime Index consisting of seven important offenses which are counted as they become known to the law enforcement agencies. Crime classification used in the Index are: murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary-breaking and entering, larceny and motor vehicle theft.

The graph below illustrates the variation in the total number of index crimes reported monthly during 1976 and 1977.

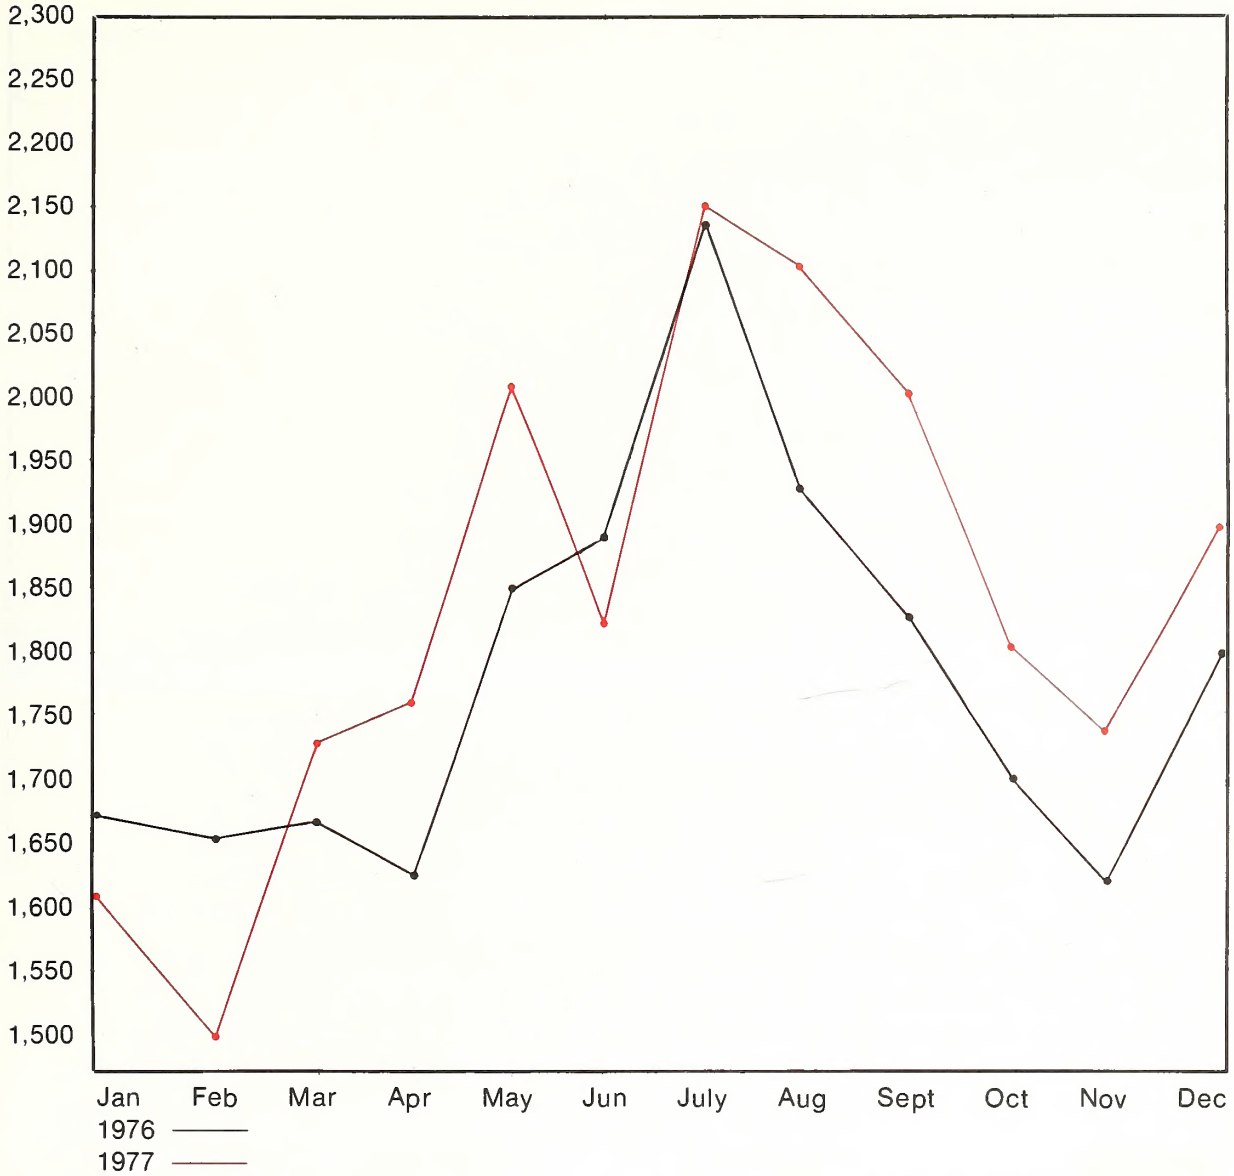
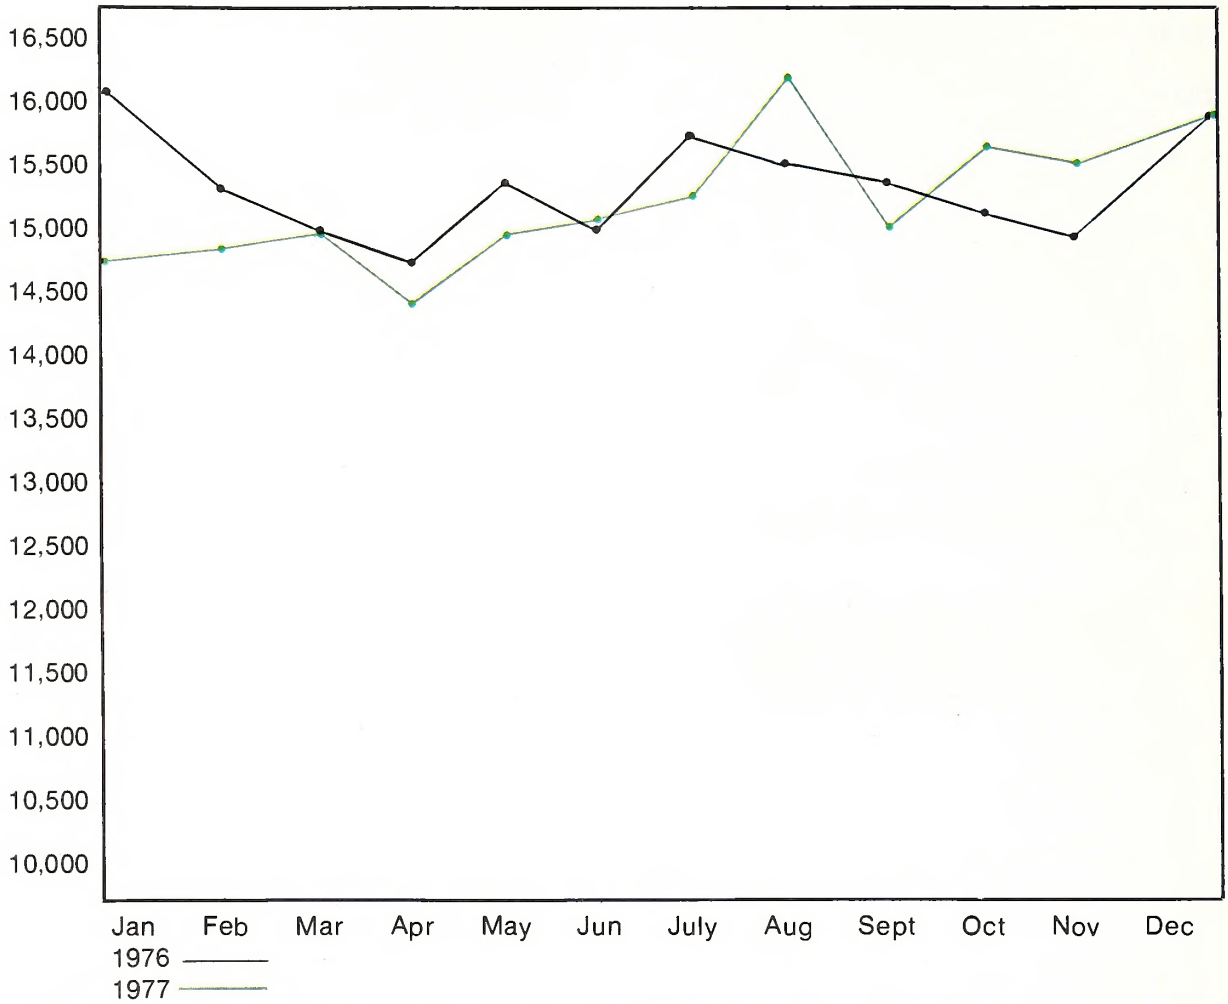
VIOLENT CRIME



Crimes of violence include murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault. Violent crimes involve the element of personal confrontation between perpetrator and victim and because of their very nature, are more serious than property crimes. These offenses for the year 1977 made up 11 percent of all reported index crimes.

PROPERTY CRIME



For Uniform Crime Reporting purposes, property crimes include the offenses of burglary-breaking and entering, larceny and motor vehicle theft. The number of property crimes reported for 1977 was over eight times the number of violent crimes, amounting to 89 percent of all Index Crimes reported.

1977 Distribution and Clearance Rates For Index Offenses

The percentage of crimes cleared by arrest is obtainable by dividing the number of offenses cleared by the number of offenses known and multiplying the resultent by 100 as:

$$\frac{50 \text{ (robberies cleared)}}{153 \text{ (robberies known)}} \times 100 = 32.67 \text{ percent cleared.}$$

The table below sets forth the percentage of each index crime cleared by arrest during the calendar year 1977.

CRIME RATE CALCULATION

Uniform Crime Reporting provides law enforcement executives with a yardstick with which to measure local problems but to utilize this administrative tool, the local data must be converted into terms of rates and percentages.

Perhaps the most used of all crime statistics is the crime rate which generally refers to the number of offenses per 100,000 inhabitants. It can be calculated for any municipality regardless of the size and may be arrived at under either of two procedures. One formula would be to divide the number of crimes by the population and to multiply the answer by 100,000.

Another procedure used particularly when crime rates for a number of different offense classes are to be calculated, is the so-called reciprocal method. Assume that a city has 75,000 inhabitants and 127 robberies and 504 burglaries for the year. Divide 100,000 by the number of inhabitants in the city (75,000). The quotient may be considered the reciprocal and multiplied by the number of crimes in each class to obtain a rate per 100,000. The reciprocal in this instance would be 1.33333 and an illustration of the calculation of the crime rates follows:

Crime Class	No. of Crimes		Reciprocal		Crimes 100,000
Robberies	127	×	1.33333	=	169.3
Burglaries	504	×	1.33333	=	672.0

The reciprocal once determined can be used to calculate all rates until a new population figure is available.

*The population figure used for crime rate calculation was 5,431,958, a 1977 estimate provided by the N.C. Dept. of Administration. This estimate reflects the population coverage of the participating agencies rather than of the entire state.

The actual rate per 100,000 female population for the state of North Carolina was 31.92. This statistic is based on the 1977 estimate supplied by the N.C. Dept. of Administration of 2,879,364 females in the state.
